

Community Intern

AI Buildathons | Community & GTM | High ownership, fast-moving

ABOUT GROWTHX

GrowthX is a private community that helps professionals grow their career in an AI-first world. Our members get to be around people who are smarter than them, learn key skills in AI, product, and marketing, and crack their next breakout role.

Over 5,000 vetted professionals from companies like Microsoft, Google, Amazon, Apple, Lovable, SarvamAI, ElevenLabs, Meta AI, Jio, HUL, ITC & Coca-Cola rely on GrowthX to grow their careers.

GrowthX is backed by 212 angel investors. Our founders are ex-leaders from Razorpay & CRED. We strongly believe people with empathy, first-principles thinking, and a chip on their shoulder are the foundation of our hiring principles.

ABOUT THE ROLE

One of the ways GrowthX helps members stay ahead is through high-intensity, hands-on AI Buildathons in partnership with leading AI companies. These are not introductory workshops; they are advanced, execution-focused experiences where professionals build real systems, solve real business problems, and learn technologies before they become mainstream.

We're looking for a Community Intern to help us scale these experiences.

WHAT YOU'LL DO

- Enable AI Buildathons at scale: own the execution and growth of ~15 Buildathons every month, not by hosting them all yourself, but by building the playbooks, handbooks, operating processes, and support systems that let GrowthX members and community ambassadors run exceptional Buildathons independently.
- Own GTM for events: treat every Buildathon as a product. Craft event narratives and positioning, write landing pages and descriptions, develop distribution strategies, work with internal teams to maximize registrations and attendance, and continuously improve conversion and engagement.
- Spot important trends before everyone else: track new AI models, emerging workflows, breakthrough products, and shifts in how companies adopt AI, to decide what ambitious professionals should learn now and which Buildathon to launch next (multi-agent systems, personal AI agents, voice AI, AI-native workflows, emerging model capabilities).
- Build and nurture the Host Club: recruit, onboard, train, and support community ambassadors into a network of exceptional hosts who independently run high-quality Buildathons on behalf of GrowthX.
- Contribute to product and operations: ship small product improvements, push code to internal tools, improve event workflows, and help build systems that scale the community.

WHAT WE'RE LOOKING FOR

- Deep curiosity about AI and emerging technologies
- Strong execution ability
- Excellent written communication skills
- Ability to learn quickly and operate independently
- High ownership and accountability
- Strong judgment about what is important versus what is merely trending

NICE TO HAVE

- Experience building with AI tools
- Experience hosting communities or events
- Familiarity with coding and shipping projects
- Experience in content, GTM, marketing, or community building
- Experience running workshops, cohorts, or learning programs

WHAT YOU'LL GAIN

- Front-row access to the AI ecosystem
- Opportunities to work with leading AI companies
- Exposure to community, GTM, product, and operations
- A network of ambitious builders across India
- Experience scaling programs that impact thousands of professionals

A NOTE ON THE ROLE

This is an intense role. You'll operate in a fast-moving environment with high expectations and significant ownership. The pace can be demanding, but you'll learn quickly, work with exceptional people, and build relationships that can shape the rest of your career.

If you're excited about AI, community, and building things that matter before everyone else notices them, we'd love to hear from you.